At the bottom, several dark, gabled roofs of buildings are visible, partially obscured by the foliage. To the right, a white building with a dark roof sits on a sandy patch near the water. A small, traditional outrigger boat with a blue canopy is beached on the sand. The water is a clear, vibrant blue, transitioning to a lighter turquoise near the shore. In the middle ground, two small, lush green islands are situated in the water. The background shows the ocean extending to the horizon under a bright, hazy sky.
